DEATH LIST SHRINKS WITH LATEST REPORTS

Now Believed That owned Will Not Exceed 500; Columbus Suffers Next Heaviest Loss to Dayton; Fear for Southern Districts

Flood waters receded sufficiently last night to show that the number of persons drowned in all the affected cities in Ohio and Indiana may not exceed 500. While many persons still are missing to friends and relatives, investigations made to date indicate that many were safe who had been thought lost.

In Dayton careful estimates placed the number of deaths at 200 or fewer, although a meeting of undertakers asserted that the total might reach 800. Relief work went on rapidly in Dayton and all parts of the city were reached.

Columbus will have the next largest loss of life, 60 bodies already having been found in the inundated portion of West Columbus.

Unverified figures from Miamisburg, O., give 50 dead, but in all other flooded cities the figures fell off rapidly as relief expeditions covered the ground.

Mount Vernon did not confirm its previous report of 30 dead and no confirmation was had of 32 reported drowned at Venice, O.

Chillicothe and Tiffin, O., where there had been reports of 50 or more dead, each had found 18 corpses up to midnight.

The best figures from Lima give a death toll of 50 persons. Fremont and Middletown, O., each has 14 dead. Troy, Massillon 5 and Zanesville 4.

The Indiana total drowned receded to fewer than 50 distributed as follows: Peru 20, Brookville 16, Fort Wayne 6, Terre Haute 4. No bodies have been found in West Indianapolis, where at one time as many as 200 deaths were reported.

With the situation somewhat alleviated in the flood swept districts of Ohio and Indiana, a new menace threatened tonight in the rise of rivers in the southern valley of both states. At Cincinnati the Ohio swelled by its tributaries caused alarm and, although the situation had not yet reached an acute stage, reports from neighboring Kentucky towns indicated that warning had been issued to the inhabitants to seek points of safety from the rising water.

In Indiana alarm was felt in the valleys of the Ohio, Wabash and White rivers, but ample warning served in a measure to reduce the panic.

While no loss of life has occurred in the new threatened districts, indications from Cincinnati are that conditions are becoming worse. At Covington, Ky., more than 500 houses are under water.

In southern Indiana fear of a new flood was especially felt at New Albany, Evansville, Terre Haute and Vincennes. Ample warning, however, had been issued to those living in the threatened sections.

In Illinois, Governor Dunne has been asked for troops to protect the levee at Shawtstown. The levee has broken near Petersburg, but there has been no loss of life.

ANALYSIS OF OHIO FLOOD CONDITIONS SHOWS LITTLE OUTSIDE HELP NEEDED

CHICAGO, March 28.—Alonzo Burt, vice president of the Chicago Telephone company, received by wire tonight the following analysis of flood conditions in Ohio compiled by E. A. Atwood, general manager of the Central Union Telephone company at Columbus, where he has been directing relief work.

Delaware—Without light, water and telephone service. City and country people who are not affected are relieving the local situation. No outside help needed at present.

Washington—City slightly damaged and railroad and telephone facilities somewhat crippled. Sending relief to other places.

Newark—Transportation, telegraph and telephone facilities crippled. People able to relieve their own suffering. Planning to send relief to Zanesville.

Circleville—No suffering that cannot be relieved locally.

Lancaster—No flood conditions requiring outside help.

Mansfield—Transportation and telegraph lines crippled and city without water and light but these will be restored in 24 hours. No outside relief needed.

Stony—Merchants taking care of the people. Both reservoirs considered safe.

Troy—Local people able to take care of the flood sufferers. Plenty of provisions.

Chillicothe—Flood conditions very bad. Five thousand people driven from their homes and 400 families need assistance. Provisions available for one day. Outside help needed, principally food. Money probably could be used more advantageously than supplies shipped from distant points.

Lima and Nelsonville—No help needed.

Piqua—Needs one additional company of militia east of the river to prevent looting and protect property. Supplies being forwarded daily from Greenville, Union City and Winchester, Ind., on the west, and from Urbana on the east. Well organized citizens in charge of relief work.

Fremont—Some loss of life and property. Victims taken care of locally.

Tiffin—Suffering being relieved by local citizens' committee and supplies being sent from Toledo.

Outawa—Securing relief from Lima, Lima and Defiance. Both cities able to take care of their own conditions.

Pohlical Talk of the Town

The political pot is getting hotter every day, as election draws near, and various addresses have been scheduled by candidates. In addition to the meeting at the court house, to be addressed Monday night by Judge McKesson, Mayor Avery will speak at the opera house tonight, and C. E. Thomas will give a talk this evening to the pupils of the International Correspondence school, in room 4, independence building.

Judge McKesson is making no campaign promises, in order to secure votes, but the fact remains that he is winning over new supporters every day, and in the final summing up seems assured of election. Four years

THE LONG ARM OF THE LAW

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL REDUCES DEMOCRATIC REPRESENTATION? TOLL UNCERTAIN

Civil Service Act Passed on Third Reading in Senate; Now Goes to House

By R. M. MCCLINTOCK.

DENVER, March 28.—The only incident that enlivened the morning session, either of the house or senate, today was the passage by the house of the reapportionment bill. The measure now goes to the senate, where it is expected it will have decidedly hard sledding. The bill increases the representation of farm counties, and takes away several members from safety Democratic counties, and this is not expected to find favor in the eyes of the senate politicians.

There was another hard fight on the bill in the house when it came up for third reading, the Republicans and several of the mining county representatives voting to kill the measure. The condition by which the bill passed second reading, still held together, however, and by a vote of 29 to 16 it was carried. The vote was as follows:

Aye—Andrew, Bennett, Boyle, Cunningham, Finch, Fincher, Frazzini, Goss, Hasty, Hawkins, Howells, Hummason, Lee, McCarty, Mann, Major, Mitchell, Newton, Norvell, Old, Persons, Philip, Richards, Riddle, Rowan, Schaeffer, Simpson, Slattery, Snedley, Smith, Sweet, Tait, Thomas, Vogt, West, Williams, Woods, Wright, Young.

Nay—Ardourel, Ashton, Biles, Centa, Carier, Elmore, Ferguson, Gates of Montezuma, Gilbert, Hicks, Knuth, McDonald, Packard, Turnbull, Weaver.

Absent and not voting—Bailey, Galush, Gates of Rio Grande, Kavanagh, Kennedy, Lettwich, Lewis, Philbin, Valdez, Speaker Skinner—10.

Civil Service Bill a Joke.
In the senate the chief business was the passage, on third reading, of the civil service bill, so-called, which, in reality, makes a joke of the civil service. Only three senators voted against the measure. By a vote of 25 to 9 the emergency clause was attached, though Atwater protested that it was mere

Paintings Last Night

Now Open to Public

Artistically, if for no other reason, it was a lucky turn of the wheel of fortune that brought Ethelbert Crawford to this section of the west a year ago to paint, and still more fortunate for Colorado Springs that this excellent artist was able to stop off here long enough for the Colorado Springs Art society to arrange an exhibit of his canvases.

The collection of eighty-nine pictures was viewed privately last evening by members of the society, with the big exhibit room in the federal building filled to its capacity. The exhibit will be open to the public this morning and continue until April 8.

First glance into the room gives an impression of a mass of color spread over the three walls occupied by the pictures—an impression that soon gives way, however, to a feeling that the artist has no sympathy with the splashing style of the post-impressionists, spreading out of thick, brilliant

COLUMBUS DEAD MAY REACH 200, STATES CORONER

MORGUES OF CITY ARE SLOWLY FILLING

Part of Worst Flood Area Yet Unexplored by Rescue Corps

COLUMBUS, O., March 28.—The waters of Columbus filled up slowly tonight as the swollen waters of the Scioto gradually receded. The number of bodies reached 200. Twenty-three bodies lay in a temporary morgue on the east bank of the Scioto, and 40 more were placed in a recently constructed fire engine house on the hilltop, just west of the flood district. The remainder are in undertakers' care.

In the worst morgue the flood had cut off all electric power, and the volunteer undertakers, worked by the city, were unable to remove the bodies. Several bodies lay in small undertakers' shops in various parts of the city. Others reached Columbus tonight that several bodies had been seen floating in the Scioto at Columbus, 25 miles below here. The authorities believe these were victims of the Columbus flood, and that bodies of many of these, in fact, their lives never will be recovered.

While bodies were picked up today, the energies of the authorities were directed toward rescuing the thousands of persons in homes, stores, on roofs and in trees. For miles along the swollen river there are great drifts of debris. Practically all of the bodies recovered have been taken from the edge of these drifts as the water receded, and the authorities believe that many more are buried beneath them. No attempt can be made to search these drifts until the water subsides. Coroner Baughert tonight said the death toll would reach 200.

Relief Measures Rushed.
Plans for relief were rushed today, but by night the various relief agencies had the situation well in hand. At the state house and the state penitentiary, where the flood had driven hundreds of prisoners, were fed, clothed and sheltered.

A large cotton building near by was filled with coats and blankets and through open to refugees. Hundreds were brought through the flood to the (Continued on Page Two.)

INDIANA'S FLOOD TOLL UNCERTAIN

Worst Danger in Indianapolis Now Lies in a Wave of Disease

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 28.—Indiana's flood death toll remains uncertain tonight with all reports confirming "conservative estimates" from loss of life. Panic is attacking cities in the southern valleys of the White and Wabash rivers and all along the Ohio as rising waters threaten repetition of the disaster here.

Sunshine and disinfecting waters relieved sufferers in the cities that have been flooded, but authorities at various localities face a great problem in fighting off disease. Refugees are demanding insistently that they be permitted to return to their devastated homes.

West Indianapolis and Peru were placed under the strictest quarantine today. Four deaths occurred in the court house last night. Serious sickness among those refugees today threatens greater loss of life than was caused by the waters. The Indianapolis city board of health quarantined West Indianapolis tonight after closing hundreds of persons who had entered the flooded district since noon, when Mayor Shank opened the Oliver avenue and West Michigan street bridges to the public.

25 Dead at Peru.
Sixteen bodies were found in Brookville and six still were missing today. The flood struck the town Monday night with such violence that all works were swept away and bridges were washed out, and no communication had with the outside world until today.

Months Will Be Required to Reconstruct the City From Effects of Flood

DAYTON, O., March 28.—Eight hundred dead is the average estimate of seven nights of Dayton's undertakers called together for a conference tonight. They reported 82 bodies had been recovered and now are at various places in the city. Individual estimates of the undertakers were from 500 to 1,000, but the consensus of opinion was that 800 would be a conservative figure. Exploration of several recesses of the city today by newspaper men hardly would justify such an estimate, however.

Orders had been issued for all bodies to be brought to a general morgue established in a garage. This had not been heeded, as less than half the number of bodies found, according to the undertakers, had been brought there tonight.

There has been keen competition between undertakers for possession of unidentified bodies.

Thirty undertakers were present at the meeting and all said they based their estimates of the dead on a general survey of the situation.

Louisville life savers made a trip into Riverdale and North Dayton sections, where it was feared there had been great loss of life. They did not find a body and said they believed few would be found. An expedition of Cleveland naval reserves brought practically no material report.

Months for Reconstruction.
As so large a part of the city had been explored, and information obtained, it failed to bear out earlier estimates of the great loss of life, the announcement of the undertakers came as a surprise to those most familiar with the situation.

Dayton's period of reconstruction will run into months, according to engineers just returning from the flood districts. Disposition of dead animals and the disinfecting of thousands of submerged houses presented the most pressing problem.

An attempt at the rebuilding of the sewerage system will not be made for several days.

Effects of the strict martial law were to be seen on all sides. Only in extraordinary circumstances were

SECRETARY GARRISON WILL NOT TURN BACK

Special Train Margined, but Party Will Proceed to Destination

ON BOARD SECRETARY GARRISON'S SPECIAL TRAIN, RENOVATION, Va., March 28.—Turning a deaf ear to railroad officials who counseled him against attempting to penetrate the heart of the flood district, Secretary of War Garrison, accompanied by his family, departed today on a special train that under circumstances would be abandoned in the event of a breakdown. At Williamson, the secretary was told the railroad situation was hopeless beyond repair, so far as reaching either Cincinnati or Columbus was concerned.

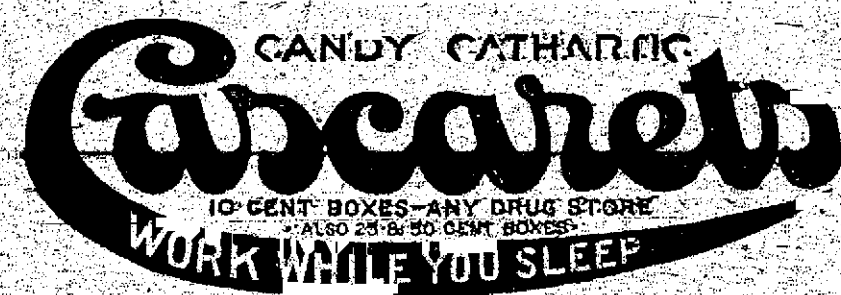

"We shall go forward as long as there is a length of track to run on," said the war secretary. "Even if we do not reach Dayton in time to cooperate in the immediate work, our services, though delayed, will not be less necessary in the work of reconstruction. We cannot think of turning back."

Both Secretary Garrison and Major General Wood were heartened by reports from Washington that Major Norrville had reached Dayton. Throughout the entire journey, the trainmen have had to proceed with the utmost caution. Gas-banked roadbeds are unstable and avalanches from embankments threaten to block the track.

FEEL STICKY, PHLEGM, HEADACHE, OR CONSTIPATION? TAKE CASCARETS

Sick headaches! Always trace them to liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or a sick stomach. Piles, constipation, indigestion, gas and bile generated in the bowels, instead of being carried out of the system, is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, sickening headache.

Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the bile and constipation poison move on and out of the bowels. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organs are especially prone to sick headaches, need not suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bright and cheerful for months. Children need Cascarets, too—they love them because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

SHAWNEETOWN, ILL., IN GRAVE DANGER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 28.—In response to an urgent appeal from citizens of Shawneetown, Gallatin county, just below the junction of the Wabash and the Ohio rivers, Governor Dunning directed Adj. Gen. Frank B. Nickerson to rush 500 tents, clothing and a quantity of food to that place, where many families have been forced to leave their homes on account of the floods.

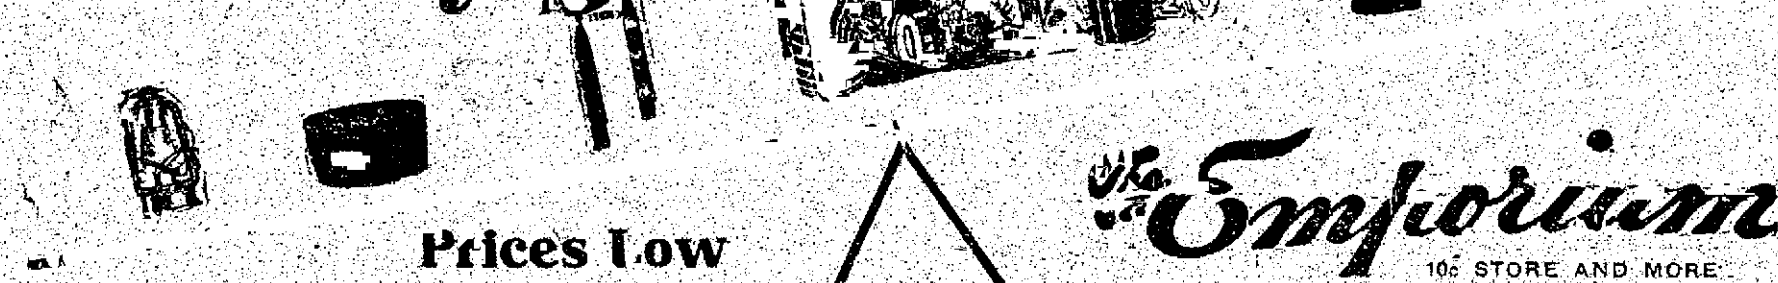

The message received by the governor follows: Shawneetown, Ill., March 28, Governor Edward P. Dunning, Springfield. The situation here is desperate. We are going to have water that will cause terrible hardships to our people. We have no one except you to appeal to. Can you furnish 500 tents, nothing less so that they will reach us soon? Also, make some arrangements where we can feed the people who are bound to be hungry, because we do not think we can keep the water out, but we will fight to the last ditch. ZANESVILLE, O., HAS BIG PROPERTY LOSS

Only Four Known Dead Yet
Received; Conditions
Are Yet Grave

ZANESVILLE, O., March 28.—With communication being slowly restored, rumors are of loss of life, but there are only four known deaths in this city as a result of the flood. Practically all of the Seventh, Eighth and Ninth wards, and a large portion of the Second and Tenth wards still are under 10 to 15 feet of water, and few boats have dared to brave the current. About half the entire city is still submerged.

Five men successfully crossed the Muskingum river to Putnam Thursday night, after 48 hours. They crossed the river to the Zanesville side this morning. The property loss in Zanesville is estimated at between $5,000,000 and $5,000,000. Water completely covers the "Y" bridge to a depth of 15 feet, and it cannot now be told whether it is still standing. The Sixth street, Third street and a portion of the Monroe street bridges and two railroad bridges in the city are washed out, and it is said that another bridge remains standing between this city and Marietta.

Rufus C. Burton, president of the chamber of commerce, has asked Governor Cox for $50,000 to be used in alleviating distress.

National guardsmen from New Lexington and Lancaster have arrived with provisions which are being distributed. Cold weather and lack of gas and coal add to the discomfort. Communication from high points about the city is being carried on by wireless telegraph and heliograph.

The city has been endangered by several fires which died out of their own accord, as no fire-fighting apparatus could approach the scenes of the conflagrations. The worst of these fires was at the old Public mine barns, where a carload of gasoline was stored.

At least 200 homes have floated down the river. With the receding of the waters, several buildings have collapsed, including the Western Music company building, in which 150 pianos from the more flooded districts were stored; the Indianapolis Brewing plant and several smaller buildings.

Comparatively little looting has been reported and the city is under strict martial law.

PIQUA FATALITIES DWINDLE TO FIFTY

PIQUA, O., March 28.—Via telephone to Greenville.—Early estimates of death in Piqua dwindled to 50 tonight after scores of missing ones believed to have been drowned, reported to the relief committee headed by Mayor Charles W. Kiser. Two hundred and fifty houses are in ruins and at least 2,500 are homeless. The residence district, known as East Piqua, was devastated and many persons there, trusting to the high levee which was thought unbreakable, stayed in their homes until too late to escape. The identified dead: ALBERT DECKER, MRS. CLARENCE DILLON, JAMES GILLARD, ISAAC KARN, MRS. SARAH WOLFORD, MISS IDA THOMPSON, MRS. GEORGE SCHLOSSER, GEORGE SCHLOSSER, MRS. LOUISE POPELDORE. Riqua suffered great property loss. Sidney, O., escaped fatalities.

UNDERTAKERS ESTIMATE

Supplies reached Dayton in large quantities today. The relief station was sufficiently organized to take care of the incoming refugees from the flood districts. The problem of caring for the homeless still was serious. Health officers report that there is only one case of typhoid in the city and there is great need of more.

Dayton's First Big Flood

One explanation of the report that thousands had perished was, to be found in the fact that it was Dayton's first big flood. Another reason was the circumstances that scores of persons seen in their homes when the flood was almost upon them were given up for dead. That they might escape at the last moment was not taken into consideration. An illustrative instance of this was shown at the offices of 18 DROWNED AT CHILlicothe, O.

CHILlicothe, O., March 28.—First authentic information regarding the loss of life here shows that 18 persons were drowned. Eleven bodies have been taken from the wreckage of homes in the east end where many railroad men live. With field glasses seven more bodies were today discovered hanging on the Killgore bridge, three miles south of here, but it has been impossible to recover them.

Conditions are much improved. The light plant has been able to resume service and the water supply again is adequate. The estimated damage to property is $1,000,000. The removal of wreckage has begun.

The relief committee, a city board which had been on duty at Main and Vine streets, and who had seen a woman and her son being thrown from the roof of their home by a gasolene explosion, reported that he was sure no less than 100 persons would be found in cottages overwhelmed by the deluge in that neighborhood. The public man stuck to his story until a citizen happened in and declared he had seen all, residents of that district waded out in water that reached to their necks.

With the receding of the water thousands of those who had been penned in their homes, were being either going to higher ground or by the water, disappearing from within their homes. Nine thousand have been taken out in boats and of this number 1,000 are being taken care of in relief stations. There is remarkable absence of sickness largely due to the cold weather since the flood.

COLORADO CONTRIBUTES $29,818.45 TO RELIEF FUND

DENVER, March 28.—According to city officials, $29,818.45 has been subscribed in the state of Colorado for the relief of flood victims in Indiana and Ohio. In addition to this amount of money, various supplies are being rushed to the stricken districts. The Commercial club at Greeley tonight announced that 30 carloads of potatoes would be hurried to the eastern cities tomorrow morning.

Of the cash subscribed, Denver has raised all but approximately $5,000. Many cities in Colorado have not reported amounts subscribed. Among the towns which have reported to Mayor Arnold are Grand Junction, $500; and two carloads of apples and 100 of potatoes; Fort Collins, $150; Longmont, $1,350; Durango, $250; Colorado Springs, $700; Alamosa, $425; La Junta, $200; Boulder, $344; Walsenburg, $288; Gunnison, $300; Pueblo, $3,000; Greeley, $500; Breckenridge, $35; Las Animas, $214; Fowler, $55.

WOMEN TO TAKE PART IN COUNCILS OF NEXT CONVENTION--ROOSEVELT

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, speaking at a Progressive party dinner tonight, announced the intention of that party to strive for the selection of women delegates to the next constitutional convention. He also predicted that a change is coming—a change which will permit the old processes that have governed the convention in political and business life longer to last.

"If this change does not come with wisdom and sanity," he declared, "it will be apt to come in evil fashion." In his speech Colonel Roosevelt said in part: "It is not open to discussion as to whether women will be useful members of that convention. In the last year women have played an important part in the discussion that has led to the forming of this party. In the last year I have drawn upon the wisdom and experience of women far more than the same manner as I have consulted and been advised by men in formulating my own convictions so they could be transmitted into activities."

"Incidentally," Colonel Roosevelt hinted the members of the Progressive party in Illinois, who he said, need stand firm for what the party advocated in the case of "drinking" prohibitions by the organizations of both the old parties.

FATHER AND SON EXPIATE CRIMES

RICHMOND, Va., March 28.—Mourning a prayer and crying half audibly that he was ready to go, Floyd Allen, a lawless product of the Virginia mountains, whose refusal to accept a short prison term for a minor offense led to the wholesale mob murder in the little one year ago, hopped to the death chair in the state penitentiary today, 11 minutes ahead of Claude Swanson Allen, his son.

The sentence of the court, held up for six hours, while desperate and dramatic efforts were being made to save the condemned man by eleven-hour appeals to Lieutenant Governor Ely, was specifically ordered to proceed when Governor Mann hopped back to Virginia to take charge of the situation. The prison superintendent, acting within the law, had agreed at 2 o'clock this morning to defer the execution, giving Attorney General Williams an opportunity to pass upon the constitutional right of Lieutenant Governor Ely to interfere.

 Courier took definite reports today into Connersville following a rapid fall in the flood. Peru rescue workers report that the death list there will not exceed 25, and some believe it will be less.

No bodies were found in West Indianapolis after a diligent all-day search, but rescue workers assert that they saw a number of drowned and swept down the river. Rescued victims left Indianapolis covered with mud and filth and in great danger of an epidemic. City authorities clashed over the admission of the public to that section of the city, and the board of health, acting under extensive powers conferred by a law passed by the recent general assembly, had Mayor Shank rescind his action, and established a quarantine with a close picket line. All but relief workers will be kept out of the flood districts until sanitary conditions are established.

New Fears Aroused.
 Railroad and interurban facilities, both paralyzed by the flood, were improved today, and ample supplies can be sent to all stricken districts. Struck to fear by the catastrophes in other Indiana cities, the newly threatened southern districts are taking extreme precautions against rising waters of the Ohio and other rivers, and persons in all danger districts have had ample warning of a possible record-breaking water mark.

New Albany and Evansville citizens were especially alarmed at the continued rise of the Ohio and all motives are being carried to places of certain safety. Four drownings were reported from Terre Haute, where the Wabash river continued to rise. Vincennes is said to be in great danger, but all reliable communication with that place has been cut off.

Indiana's worst danger now lies in a wave of disease that may follow the floods. Government health authorities are reaching the northern Wabash valley from Chicago, and Dr. C. C. Conner, surgeon-general of the marine hospital at Chicago, with a staff of assistants, will aid state and city authorities.

Water service was resumed in Indianapolis this afternoon, with warning issued that the water must not be used for drinking or food purposes unless boiled. Street car service was restored on all lines except those cut off by washed-out bridges. Conditions will be almost normal again in the near future.

A small factory for diamond polishing has recently been started in Joppatown.

SEGREGATED DISTRICT BILL IS DEFEATED BY MRS. RIDDLES' SPEECH

Special to The Gazette.
 DENVER, March 28.—One woman in the house of representatives this afternoon killed the segregated district bill. And she killed it so dead it is safe to say no man will ever have the integrity to resurrect it—at least as long as Mrs. Riddle is in the house.

For it was her speech that killed the bill. For an hour she had sat, as patiently as she could, while Dr. John Biles, of Mineral, the author of the bill, read a lengthy statement defending it.

And then she had her chance. She was angry clear through, and her voice, with its rich, Teutonic flavor, vibrated with passion as she denounced the measure, "the worst infernal" that had ever been introduced in the Colorado legislature. She declared it to be class legislation of the worst sort, designed to make the woman suffer and to protect the man.

"You would put these poor women behind the gates for all the rest of their days," she said, "and the man would go forth pure. Segregate the men who sin, as well as the women, and I'm with you. But my sympathy goes out to all these poor girls who sin. I could call them all sister and slap them to my breast for it is the men who have corrupted them, who have led them astray. It takes at least a dozen men wholly to corrupt a woman."

Sin Cloaked by Wealth.
 And then you pick out for your segregated district, only the poor women. There is as much sin on this hill as there is down on Market street—only here it is cloaked by wealth. When they brought to Jesus the woman taken in sin he asked them what she had done. "She is a prostitute," they said. "Let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone," he replied.

"And now, you men, here in this legislature, I challenge you to let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone at these poor women!"

Applause came from all over the house as Mrs. Riddle, her face flushed, her eyes blazing, took her seat. And there were only one or two scattering nays against the motion to strike the enacting clause from the Biles bill.

The German farmer woman had made a speech that, even in the opinion of the Ladies Home Journal, might have offered some justification for woman suffrage.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL

 foolish than usual to attach it to such a bill. The bill now goes to the house, where efforts to change it into a decent measure will now be concentrated.

Most of the morning in the senate was taken up by a squabble over the bill creating an osteopathic examining board. Metz endeavored to get it out of the health committee, where it has slumbered since it passed the house. He was unsuccessful. Dr. Sharpley, chairman of the committee, refusing to make any report and being upheld by a ruling of the lieutenant governor that he did not have to do so, even on a call of a senator under the rules, further than to ask for more time. The bill will therefore perish in committee.

Women Solons Differ.
 Something very unusual in Colorado legislative annals occurred yesterday afternoon in the house. Opposition had developed to the Smedley minimum wage commission bill. The opposition was not based on anything in the bill itself, but simply on the fact that Smedley is a Progressive, and there are Democrats in the house who said they would not stand for a Progressive bill.

Smedley, therefore, in order to improve the passage of the measure, moved that his name be removed from the bill, and the Democratic house

WHITE SLAVERS MENACE OMAHA

TAKE ADVANTAGE GIRLS MADE HOMELESS

Work of Reparation Begun in Earnest; Thousands Are Given Employment

OMAHA, March 28.—White slavers menaced the peace of Omaha today for the first time since Sunday's tornado. They were discovered taking in refugees in a suburban house, and the detective force of the city was put to work at once rounding up suspects. Some of them became so bold as to represent themselves as relief workers and began taking young girl refugees into homes which apparently had been furnished to attract white slave victims. Two women and one man were arrested this afternoon. They are believed to have come from Chicago.

At noon the central relief committee when its members discovered the presence of these dangerous persons in the city, almost abandoned its relief work for a few hours to take time to meet the new danger. A meeting was held immediately and detectives and militiamen put to work on the case.

The committee also faced the question of preventing alleged victims securing unnecessary supplies. One woman was discovered to have secured five automobile loads of supplies from a small store.

Additional Supplies Arrive.
 A checker was put to work and an effort was made to supply only those registered and then only from the station located in the district in which the sufferers were located.

Additional tents arrived today, and those who have not been provided with better homes will be housed in tents for the present. Appeals for funds for relief of tornado victims continue to pour in but the relief committee sees necessity for a great deal more money and is making additional appeal for outside assistance.

Four hundred tents and 1,000 blankets were received by Mayor Hartman commanding the federal troops on duty in the city from the government depot at St. Louis.

One more body was reported found in the north part of the city but it has not been identified.

The relief committee was given an illustration of universal brotherhood in times of misfortune when a Chinaman who declined to give his name, handed in $125, with this note: "In token of sympathy with tornado sufferers from the Omaha, Chinese."

Nearly a thousand carpenters went to work today repairing the buildings only partially wrecked by the storm and 2,000 laborers began clearing away the debris of demolished structures. Hundreds of roofs were being restored and the work of replacing many homes to the foundations from which they had been twisted was begun.

That the destroyed portion of the city will be rebuilt better than ever was the general impression, and the labor of interest in reconstruction work bears out that belief.

Members of the various building trade unions held meetings today and it was decided that any attempt to raise the price of labor at this time would not be countenanced. The regular scales of wages in vogue among these unions was made public with the statement that any attempt at extortion would be frowned upon by the union.

Steps to raise the "restoration fund" to an amount that would be ample to reconstruct the destroyed portion of the city were taken today and building and loan associations and other realty interests are leading in the work. Low rates of interest for reconstruction purposes have been tendered and large amounts of money are being made available for loans to rebuild wrecked buildings.

Chorus girls of the various theaters sold papers on the streets today for the benefit of the general relief fund.

voted to accept his sacrifice. The bill will bear the names of Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Riddle, the two women members of the house.

The substitution of the Smedley bill for the Robinson minimum wage bill in the house marks a decided difference of opinion between the two Democratic women in the legislature, Senator Robinson and Representative Lee. Though the house bill is generally accepted as being decidedly stronger than the Robinson bill, especially in the amended form in which it passed the senate, it is said that Mrs. Robinson will oppose it if it reaches the senate.

Adjustment Again Delayed.
 The house this morning laid over until next Wednesday the Robinson resolution calling for adjournment April 10. Governor Ammons told me the house should table it, and not consider adjournment until we have finished our work," said Representative Weaver.

The senate put over until April 2 the final vote on the Van Tilburg bill removing Teller county from the Fourth judicial district and the bill consolidating the banking and insurance departments. The pinera society bill was passed by unanimous vote, and with the emergency clause added, it will now go to the house for concurrence in the senate amendments.

The senate concurred in the house amendments to the headlight bill, and that measure now lacks only the governor's signature.

The house this afternoon struck the enacting clause from a bill, introduced by Dalley, which, it was claimed, aimed at the crippling of the mother's compensation act. The bill provided that the county commissioners, rather than the county judges, should have the distribution of the compensation funds.

A bill by McDonald, aimed at black-handers and kidnappers, was passed on second reading. It makes the crime a felony, and provides a maximum penalty of 20 years' imprisonment.

Persons who register a school bill was on the calendar, but he obtained permission to replace it by the prevention of occupational disease bill.

SOCIETY

Zebulon Pike Chapter Given Pleasant Afternoon Yesterday

With scenery and costumes, faithfully portraying the era of the little sketch, "The Spirit of 1812," written by Mrs. Maria E. Wheaton of Denver, and presented yesterday by Zebulon Pike chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the Daughters and their friends was a most artistic and well-wrought out performance. The play was written by Mrs. Wheaton, 25 years ago, and it was fitting that it should be given here in this year of the centenary of the declaration of the last war with Great Britain.

The sketch represents an old colonial home in Newport, Rhode Island, and was in two scenes. The first represented the arrival in the home of her grandmother of a little southern girl, who in the four months required to journey from Richmond to Rhode Island in those war days had won some of the stirring events of the conflict. Her arrival, accompanied by the old negro mammy, whose character acting was the hit of the playlet, showed her anxious to see the old relics of the home, of which she had heard so often from her mother, and some reminiscences of Colonial times were cleverly woven in the story. Her persuasions won her grandmother to dance, the minuet with her, and the stately old dance was charmingly done by Mrs. W. T. Kason as the grandmother, and Miss Genevieve Turner as the granddaughter, Lily Ann. During the whole of the first act the hopes and fears of the women as to the outcome of the struggle were dwelt upon, and in the second act news of the success that was turning the tide of battle was thick and fast. A dramatic touch was Lily Ann's description of the new song, "The Star Spangled Banner," just written, and sung for her in Baltimore, to the other women who had never heard it. And as she told of it, her voice in the distance were heard singing the strains, as the maid came rushing in with the news that peace had been declared, and the war was over at last.

Mrs. Wheaton is very conversant with the history of the war, and she wove the events together in a very clever and dramatic manner. The cast was very good, and the chapter was well satisfied with the presentation. Miss Turner and Mrs. Kason looked and acted the parts of high-bred ladies of a century ago. Mrs. C. V. Turner as Aunt Cynthia was very clever. Mrs. Kason as the other woman who had never heard it. And as she told of it, her voice in the distance were heard singing the strains, as the maid came rushing in with the news that peace had been declared, and the war was over at last.

Crystal chandeliers, spinning wheel, clocked hat, old pictures and furniture made the setting very attractive, and the gowns worn by the players, relics of the ancestors of the women of the chapter, gave the convincing touch of realism to the whole afternoon.

At the close of the performance the guests were invited to the dining room, where the hostesses, Mrs. Arko, and Mrs. Scott, served tea and coffee, sandwiches and cake, salted nuts and candies. Mrs. E. J. Goddard and Mrs. Martin Slaughter poured the tea and coffee, and Mrs. E. W. Cox, Mrs. E. T. Engler, Mrs. W. S. Strieby, Mrs. John Speed, Tucker, Mrs. David Elliott, Mrs. Clarence C. Hamilton, Mrs. John Lennon, Mrs. S. A. Bissell, Mrs. W. W. Price and Mrs. Lois H. Allen assisted in serving. Receiving with Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Arko were Mrs. Wheaton, Mrs. E. J. Goddard, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. A. T. Ginnell, Mrs. E. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Thomas C. Pease, Mrs. Franklyn, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Arthur G. Shaw, Mrs. E. J. Robinson, Miss Mary Chardman, Miss Mary Griffin, Miss Jessie Aiken and Mrs. William W. Cowen assisted in the drawing room.

Thousands of Women

Have Been Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

There is no doubt about this fact. Why? during the last 30 years we have published in the newspapers of this country volumes of letters from women who have been relieved of all their suffering by the timely aid of this grand old medicine. Letters like the following, true, genuine and honest expressions of gratitude coming from grateful hearts. Surely you can believe these women.

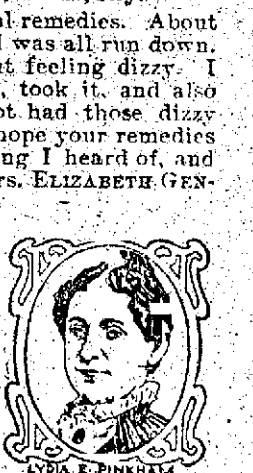

Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Mich., says:—
 "Some time ago I was taken with a terrible pain in my right side, such sharp pains just like a knife sticking me. I tried hot applications but that did no good. I went to our family doctor (we were living in Fayette, Ohio, at that time) and he said it was organic inflammation. I doctored with him a while but kept getting worse. The pain was so terrible I could hardly stand on my feet. I would have that sharp pain in my right side, and a dull heavy pain in the whole length of my limb. I realized that something had to be done quickly, so I looked up all of your advertisements I could find, and saw several that described my case. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first dose, and when I had taken two bottles my trouble was gone. Your medicine has done so much for me that I am willing you should publish this letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Michigan.

Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, Girard, Pa., says:—
 "I take pleasure in informing you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a sick spell last February and for some months after that I was not regular and had no feelings. I was tired all the time, had dull headaches, not much appetite, and also what the doctor called organic inflammation. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I feel that too much cannot be said in its praise as I am now able to do my own work. You are perfectly welcome to use my testimonial for the benefit of others."—Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, R.F.D. No. 1, Girard, Pa.

Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, Buffalo, N.Y., says:—
 "I feel that I must write to you about your wonderful remedies. About ten years ago I was troubled with female weakness and was all run down. I was tired all the time and could hardly walk without feeling dizzy. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it, and also used the Sanative Wash. I got stronger, and have not had those dizzy spells since. I feel that I owe my health to you, and hope your remedies will help others as they have me. I tried most everything I heard of, and yours are the best medicines for women's ailments."—Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, 26 Glor Street, Buffalo, New York.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

members of the league have signified their intention of being present, and as there are some very important matters to be discussed the gathering will be full of interest.

Open Progress Club
 The regular meeting of the Open Progress club will be held tomorrow afternoon, Monday at 3 p. m. in the Y. W. N. A. rooms in the DeGraff building. Miss Flansburg will be the hostess, and will speak in Master track. The meeting is free to members, and guests will be admitted upon payment of the usual guest fee.

"Snow White" Again Today
 The opera given last night at the Lyvild chapel, under the direction of Miss Anna Briggs, was an unqualified success, as it was on the occasion of its first presentation here some weeks ago, and a good audience heard the young singers last night. There will be a matinee performance this afternoon, and the management hopes that a number of children will be able to come, since they would be especially interested in the presentation.

Guest Matinee Woman's Club
 The Women's club will hold a guest matinee this afternoon at 3 p. m. The entertainment committee, Mrs. J. A. Orr, chairman, will have charge of the arrangements. The program will be: Piano Solo, Miss Maedell; Illuminated club swimming; Archie Smith Reading; Donald McPherson Reading; Kenneth Golden Reading; Gladys Christy Reading; Mrs. P. W. Caldwell; Mandolin Quartette; Margaret Rowley; Marjorie Cooper; Elizabeth Davis; and Rena Strong. Each member of the club is asked to bring one guest. There will be no guest fee.

North End W. G. T. U.
 The regular meeting of the North End Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. W. Buchanan, 1322 North Cascade avenue. Mrs. Andrew J. Tarré will have her paper on "Cultural Education" will be followed by a social hour. All who are interested are cordially invited.

The society editor requests that all news intended for this column should reach her by the next morning. The evening force it is to appear. It can be given either personally or by telephone, Main 215, but it is necessary that it should reach her before that time.

A COLD LA GRIPE, THEN PNEUMONIA
 Is too often the fatal sequence. La Grippe coughing hard on a weak throat system, opens the way for pneumonia. G. Collins, Postmaster, Raraback, N. J., says: "I was troubled with a severe La Grippe cough and was completely exhausted after each fit of violent coughing. Before I had taken one-half of a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, the coughing spells had entirely ceased. I wish to say it can't be beat. All others are imitations."—Robinson Drug Co., Adm.

POLITICAL TALK
 as the city's expert adviser, and in that time he has been called upon to solve many difficult problems of administration. He has served to put him in close touch with the needs and workings of every city department. As city attorney he has saved the taxpayers many thousands of dollars, because of his astuteness and thorough knowledge of the business of the city. Even in the handling and management of the water department the mayor's own city Attorney McKesson has been called upon regularly for advice and suggestion.

In many sections of the city where people are asked to almost without exception the preference have strongly for McKesson.

Based upon estimates from the city clerk's office, the vote next Tuesday will be less than 4,000, and probably will be less than that number.

Senator Arthur Campbell will come down from Denver today to make a personal charge of this publicity campaign. Over the telephone last night he asked the city clerk to have a car brought in from Colorado Springs, that he has withdrawn from the race, as he felt "I am in the wrong to stay," he said, but have been so busy with legislation.

BULGARIA ACCEPTS TERMS
 LONDON, March 28.—Bulgaria today accepted the offer of mediation made by the European powers, but with a proviso that practically negates the proposals of the powers.

Don't Worry—Eat
 Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Emma D. Looney, of this place, says: "I suffered misery for nearly eight years, but since taking Cardui, I am much stronger and I have not missed a single meal. I hardly know how to express my gratitude. Don't worry about your symptoms. Cardui doesn't treat them. What you need is strength. Cardui helps you to get it. Take Cardui, because other tonics and medicines do not contain its peculiar and successful ingredients, imported especially for its manufacture. Half a century of success, stamped Cardui with the seal of public approval. During this time, Cardui has benefited a million women. Why not you? Try it today."

KILL THE LIQUOR AMENDMENT

IF THE proposed amendment to the liquor ordinance is passed it will mean all-night drinking in upstairs dining rooms, basement dining rooms, and other dining rooms so effectively shut off from view as to be, in all but a legal sense, private dining rooms.

It will mean granting a privilege to the restaurant keepers for which the city will receive no license fee, and over which it will have no power of control.

It will mean the opening of any number of wineries, disguised as restaurants, running all night and operating without licenses.

The city can now control sellers of liquor because all of them are licensed. The Council has authority to revoke these licenses at will, without even granting a hearing, and to impose severe penalties provided by the ordinance. But under the restaurant amendment the Council will have no such power. No license is required, therefore there is nothing for the city to take away from them if they violate the law. They will not be subject to the severe restrictions which are now imposed on the clubs, hotels and drug stores.

Imagine the spectacle of a restaurant with a secluded dining room for serving liquors, operated in connection with a dance hall! We know the conditions created in the dance hall investigation three months ago. Think how much worse they would be if each dance hall had a wine-room-restaurant close at hand.

THINK IT OVER!

WILL MR. AVERY ANSWER?

MAYOR AVERY is billed to speak at the Opera House tonight. Will he answer the following questions?

1. Do not the state laws, the charter and the city ordinances all require that a sinking fund be collected annually for the payment of bonds against the city, and that the money to pay these bonds must be collected at the time and in the manner designated in the bonds?

Did not the law compel you to collect every dollar of the $350,000 which you claim has been raised during your administration for the payment of city bonds? If you had failed to provide for the collection of this money, would not the courts have compelled you by mandamus to collect it? Does not the law expressly provide that the money raised for the payment of bonds must be used for that purpose and no other?

Then will you not admit that as a matter of fact every dollar which has been paid on bonds during your term of office was collected and so paid because the law compelled you to collect it and to either put it in a sinking fund to be used exclusively for the redemption of bonds, or to redeem outstanding bonds, and that you did the latter because the City Attorney advised you to do so? Could you or any other person as Mayor have done any different from what you have done without violating the law?

If you did only what the law compelled you to do, why do you in circulars and in public speeches try to deceive the people by claiming that YOU reduced the bonded indebtedness of the city $356,000?

2. It is not a fact that you increased the bonded debt of the city $197,000 during your administration by the issuance of new bonds?

3. You claim that you increased the receipts of the Water Department the first year of your administration $30,000; how about the receipts for the last year? Is it not a fact, shown by the Auditor's and Treasurer's books, that the Water Department closed the last year with an actual shortage of over $5,000, and that your department is now over $15,000 short in its receipts, and that in order to cover up this shortage you are considering the issuing of 6 per cent emergency warrants in the sum of $50,000, on the pretext that the City must buy some land and build some fences to protect the water from pollution?

4. Is it not a fact that you have appropriated each year the full amount of the estimated receipts of the City, and have made no allowance for shortage in collections, as is done in other cities, and that as a result of this inflexible policy the City has expended more money than it has received, and that the books have been carrying from $25,000 to $40,000 in warrants against the City, because there was no money in the treasury to pay them?

5. Why did you not comply with the mandate of the City Charter and formulate a plan at the beginning of your administration for refunding the water bonds? If you answer that you could not do so on account of the condition of the bond market will you not have to admit that the bond market is much worse today than it was four years ago, and will the taxpayers not have to suffer a much greater loss by refunding these bonds now than they would if you had done your duty?

6. Is it not a fact that if a part of the water bonds are not refunded in the near future, taxes will be enormously increased? Have you ever formulated and presented to the Council, as the Charter requires, any plan for refunding these bonds?

7. You claim that you are responsible for the efficiency of the Fire Department. Have you any more control of the Fire Department than you have of the Police Department? If you are responsible for the efficiency of the Fire Department are you not also responsible for the inefficiency of the Police Department?

8. The Fire Department is asking for a bond issue of $20,000 to buy needed apparatus and make necessary repairs in the fire alarm system. Would this bond issue have been called for if you had done your duty in refunding the water bonds?

9. Was not your brother-in-law interested in one of the high bids for street paving, and did you not vote against letting the contract to the lowest bidder?

10. Do not Sections 77 and 78 of the Charter require that you shall each year inspect the buildings, plants, power houses and all properties of public utility corporations and report to the Council a detailed statement of such inspection? You know during your four years administration you have never made a single inspection or filed a single report with the Council as required by these sections of the Charter. Why have you not done so?

11. Did you not cause to be circulated last year the report that the cause of the muddy city water which troubled our citizens and drove away our tourists was a storm in the mountains, when you knew the real cause of this muddy water was the incompetency and drunkenness of one of your caretakers in the mountains?

STATEMENT BY ATHERTON NOYES.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
An editorial in the Evening Telegraph on the Congressional Brotherhood meeting shows a serious misconception of the facts as follows:
1. There was no and not at the committee meeting which considered the candidates.
2. There was no formal endorsement of any candidate. There was a ballot taken to find out the individual preferences of members, such an expression as the Telegraph approves.
3. The spirit actuating the Committee to every meeting was only the desire to gather information for any who might value it, to enable every candidate to get fairly fully before the brotherhood, and to give to every man a square deal.
4. There was no thought of trying to deliver the church vote in any one candidate.
The fact that in the report of the Congressional Brotherhood meeting which found its way into the paper, only one candidate for mayor was mentioned, doubtless gave rise to this misconception. The committee has therefore indicated the nomination of the actual vote for the candidates for mayor, in order that the situation should appear clear to the public. The nomination is made not with the intent to prejudice the chances of any candidate, but solely in answer to the editorial in the Telegraph.

Vote for Mayor.

Total possible vote, 11.
McKesson was first choice on 11 ballots, and second choice on one ballot.
Thomas was first choice on two ballots, and second choice on five ballots.
Thomson was first choice on one ballot, and second choice on three ballots.
Avery was first choice on one ballot, and third choice on one ballot.
Before the giving of the report to the brotherhood, the following were the preferences of the members:
CLARENCE P. DODGE, Secretary.

LEGACY OF THE CHARTER AMENDMENT ELECTION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The question has been raised whether the proposal to elect each commissioner to a specific department had to adopt the preferential system of voting and a charter amendment be legally submitted at the coming municipal election.
Section 2, article 20 of the state constitution, after providing that it shall be competent for qualified electors in number not less than 5 per cent of the last preceding gubernatorial vote to petition the council for any charter amendment or for a charter convention, proceeds as follows: "The council shall submit the same to a vote of the qualified electors at the next general election not held within 30 days after such petition is filed."
The question arises, what is meant by the word "election"? The charter committee of Pueblo county decided that "general election" meant "general municipal election," so that on the authority of that ruing, until it is reversed by the supreme court, a charter amendment cannot be submitted at the general state election, but must be submitted at the general municipal election.

Personally it is my opinion that the decision of the district court in Pueblo is too narrow, and that under the phrase "general election" charter amendments may be submitted at either the general state election or the general municipal election. This conclusion is strengthened by the fact that the same section and article of the state constitution also allows a special election for amendments to the charter or for charter conventions whenever the petition is signed by not less than 10 per cent of the voters. It seems rather fairly plain reasoning to hold that a charter amendment can be submitted at any time during the year except only at the general municipal election.

I am authorized to state that the city attorney concurs in the view that charter amendments may be submitted at the general election, which is the opinion of the majority of the charter committee.

QUALIFICATIONS OF CANDIDATES.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
As I am practically unacquainted with the city my knowledge of the various candidates must necessarily be gained from the advertising matter which they originate, and my opinion of their suitability gained therefrom. All of which leads to impartiality.

I find one candidate for councilman whose qualification is that he believes that "labor should have a direct representative on the city council." Another, the "impartial and just performance of duty." Another can furnish "mighty good references as a door." A "door" of what? Running a police and fire department or a city's finances? Those are the positions he is seeking. What kind of a "door" is this? The cream of the lot are those who have "lived in the town 25 or 30 years" and have been a taxpayer for 25 or 30 years. Some of the lot have been here two years only have shown some special qualifications. One of these has a long record in the fire department, the other in the police department. Either of these men have better recommendations for the position they seek than any of the others. But have they "as many friends"? Let us state a hypothetical case.

A large corporation having an organized fire and police body for the protection of its extensive holdings, finds itself in need of a head of that body, and at the same time its treasurer dies. It advertises for men to fill the positions. Three men apply. One has had several years' experience in police and fire work. Another has "lived in the town 40 years." Which one gets the position as head of the fire and police organization? The third applicant has paid taxes for 25 years. Does he get the position as treasurer because of that fact? It sounds silly to even consider such a proposition when applied to a corporation, doesn't it? Yet that is what is being applied to city affairs.

Long residence, long taxpaying records, and the various similar arguments set forth by more fit a man to direct the affairs of a city than would the fact that he could wiggle his ears like a burro. The politician who is out for "commutation" could, no doubt, do more to take the kinks out of the police department than could the man who believes that labor should be represented in the city council, or the man who has done nothing but pay taxes for a few hundred years or so. The ex-officio of the fire department knows more about the workings of the fire department than the man who has been a successful taxpayer. All this is said from the standpoint of a man who has learned from advertisements of the candidates, who in themselves are mere names to me.

World the street railway company employ as general manager a man whose only recommendation was that he had been a successful shoemaker? Would the Portland mill employ a superintendent who had paid taxes for 15 years, but who had had no experience in running a plant of that sort? Most emphatically not. And yet the voters of Colorado Springs have to select their general managers from among a long list of men, of whom two only have had any previous experience in the department to which they hope to be elected. Is it any wonder under such conditions that the taxpayer sends up a howl and a wall at the excessive taxation and the inefficient administration of the city's affairs? The business concerns mentioned, would, if they chose their officials in the same manner, with no regard to their qualifications, do in the business court in short order.

Colorado Springs, March 28.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
In section 4 of the proposed rest day ordinance, exemption is provided for those who observe the seventh day of the week as Sabbath. It is stated that such persons shall not be liable to sections 1 and 2 of this ordinance, if they actually refrain from labor as herein specified, on the seventh day, or close their places of business on that day. According to this none could benefit by this exemption, unless they had observed the seventh day, Sabbath, in the manner in which this ordinance specifies the observance of Sunday.

It is just as objectionable for the church lay to dictate the manner of observing the Sabbath on the seventh day as on the Sunday. In either case the church is clearly intruding into the sacred realm of conscience and is interfering with the principle of religious freedom upon which our government is established. This exemption clause, ostensibly providing for a certain class of religiousists, simply serves as additional evidence that the ordinance is a religious measure which, first, in itself, ought to cause its defeat.

And how about the citizens who have no religious scruples either in regard to Saturday or Sunday? Must they bow to a compulsory religious observance of an institution for which they have no conscientious regard, because in the minority? Said Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, in the senate, January 30, 1913: "I am not one of those who believe that tyranny is a particular sin because it is the tyranny of the majority. I believe with John Rogers Williams that there are two classes of things, the one class is the things of the first table and the things of the second table. The things of the first table are those things which are between God and the individual man and government has no right to touch them. If 99,999,999 of the people out of 100,000,000 wanted to do anything in connection with them—the things between God and the individual—and one man stood up in his right and said 'No, I don't like one man's voice should restrain the rest. Amongst these things are freedom of religion and various other things that will occur to your own minds.'"

Enforcing adherence to these principles is the only safeguard against oppression of the few by the many—the only safeguard against persecution.

MRS. BOYD FOR COUNCILMAN.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, the eminent lecturer, author and reformer, in his lecture at the Temple theater, when speaking of public systems, as reported in The Gazette, said: "At least half the police force in cities should be women. It is safe to say that if the right type of men and women are appointed for the policing of our cities the amount of crime and graft and vice will be diminished by one-half, to the immense saving financially and in every other way of the municipality."

Vote for Mrs. Boyd for councilman. She is an intelligent and capable woman and would be an efficient commissioner. She has said that if elected and assigned to the office of commissioner of safety she would perform the duties of that department. Please send good woman councilman. A MAN.

LIARS

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Swash"

A liar is a man who is not on speaking terms with the truth. There are various kinds of liars. Some are accidental, some are occasional, some are born liars, and some are liars by profession. Some liars are honest liars, and some are dishonest liars. Some make themselves seem pleasant by comparison.

In the south a liar is more fatal than a snake. It is necessary for a man to know his own mind. A liar who knows his own mind is a liar who knows his own mind. A liar who knows his own mind is a liar who knows his own mind.

King David once said in his haste that all men were liars. There is no record that he ever took this back on second thought.

"Annanias was the first liar of any great note."

Some men lie for amusement, like fishermen, some for business, like stock promoters, some for meanness, like gossip, and some for charity, like men who pay compliments to middle-aged ladies. If it were not for liars, society would be full of hard feelings, and very few young ladies would pursue their studies in vocal or instrumental music.

It was liars who first made the settlement of America possible. If the explorers who landed along the Atlantic coast had gone home and told the truth about the climate, America would have had 10,000 people by 1800.

Annanias was the first liar of any great note. He told a lie and got burned up for it. Since then liars have grown a great deal in skill, and now they are seldom even punished. It is very easy to become a liar. It is easier than to slip on a sidewalk, or to look at a pretty girl or to get into a quarrel with a young lady. All that is necessary is to tell one lie. If the experimenter will choose the proper lie to begin with, he will have to produce a dozen a day to keep it up forever afterward.

The consequence of lying are many. Some men get licked and some get flogged. Others make a million dollars, and some become senators. If the consequences were a little more consistent, maybe people would be a little more careful about giving truth the usual chilly shoulder.

MRS. BURNHAM ACQUITTED OF SLAYING HER HUSBAND

CHICAGO, March 26.—Mrs. Harriet M. Burnham was acquitted of a charge of slaying her husband, Herbert E. Burnham, by a jury in Judge Burke's court today after the jury had deliberated nearly an hour. Although several plainclothesmen were under consideration which may remove this objection. The work of the jury will be undertaken by the new department of labor. The question of the earnings of domestics has been considered of especial value in the compilation of full economic reports of national industries. These vary so much in different communities that while the labor statistics make the general statement that domestic service is still more remunerative than any other industrial occupation for women in proportion to the expenditure, the figures are not so reliable to furnish detailed reports.

HARVARD STUDENT, 18, TO BE 'PH. D.'

NORBERT WEINERT

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE MODERN WOMAN

IV. WOMEN AS SERVANTS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

More women are working in domestic service than in other gainful occupations, despite the great and growing unpopularity of such employment. According to the last census report more than a fifth of the 8,000,000 women employed in gainful occupations outside of their own homes are engaged in domestic service. The greater number of women servants are foreign born. During the present generation this class of work has become so unpopular that American women prefer almost any other field of activity, often at a much smaller remuneration and less comfort than would be assured them by taking service in average American homes. The various causes which have brought about this condition of affairs have become the subject of study and consideration by the women of the entire country, both privately and through their numerous organizations.

The difficulties in the adjustment of the domestic help problem have become so important that they have received the attention of the old department of commerce and labor, which for some time contemplated an investigation of the whole matter. It was deferred because of the apparent difficulties in the way of securing accurate information. Although several plans now are under consideration which may remove this objection. The work of the jury will be undertaken by the new department of labor. The question of the earnings of domestics has been considered of especial value in the compilation of full economic reports of national industries. These vary so much in different communities that while the labor statistics make the general statement that domestic service is still more remunerative than any other industrial occupation for women in proportion to the expenditure, the figures are not so reliable to furnish detailed reports.

Conditions Need to Be Changed.

The investigations made by private agencies have brought to light many facts showing conditions which need to be changed both for the good of the servant girl and her mistress. One investigator reports that women servants in the United States are treated with less kindness and consideration than in any other country, and she suggests that it is only a natural consequence that in no other country are servants as a class so inefficient and unreliable. Most of the investigations tend to put the blame for these conditions largely upon the mistress despite the thousands of individual cases in which the maid is treated with all the consideration given to another member of the family.

Loneliness is the greatest hardship suffered by the girl in the average home in which only one servant is kept. She has no social intercourse with any member of the family. She eats her meals alone and spends her leisure alone in a kitchen which generally has little to make it attractive. Frequently even when she is allowed to go out to the street or to some cheap theater, she is deprived from admission to many of the social clubs which furnish diversion for the leisure of other working girls. What wonder is it that too often she falls a victim to the temptation of the policeman, the groceryman or some other man who gives her an occasional friendly greeting, and thus joins the large army of unmarried mothers who annually apply to charitable institutions for aid?

It is a reflection upon the mistresses more than upon the maids themselves that by far the larger number of these unfortunate are girls who met their fall while in domestic service. The claim frequently is made that the maid servant is protected by her mistress, but this is not always the truth. An instance recently was cited at a woman's club meeting of a mistress to whom a young girl appealed for protection from the man butler in the same household. Instead of dismissing the man, the woman selfishly discharged the girl upon the ground that she could not be troubled with servants, disarrangements and it was much easier to secure a chambermaid than a competent butler. The social distinctions which some mistresses attempt to raise between themselves and the girl who are in their employ and should be under their protection, is one of the greatest dangers to the safety of the girl in domestic service.

Many Driven to Streets.

The rule that a girl may receive no callers at her place of employment has driven many virtuous girls to the street, although considering the number of servants who frequently are found to be in league with thieves and burglars, mistresses sometimes claim that such a rule is necessary for their own protection. The proper adjustment of the need of recreation and companionship for a girl in domestic employment, especially in houses where only one servant is kept, is in the eyes of many students of the subject, the most important matter connected with the servant problem.

This problem is most discussed in the larger towns, and yet it must be admitted that the woman in the city does not suffer so much personal discomfort and fatigue from her inability to secure help in the work of the home as women in the country or upon large farms out of reach of the conveniences for lightening their work. It is quite usual for the wife of a prosperous farmer to have to perform with her own hands all the labor of cooking, baking, quilting and ironing, not only for her own family, but for several extra men as well, in addition to keeping the home clean and in order. She can not send her soiled clothes to the laundry, procure her bread and cake from the bakery, and rely largely upon the delicatessen store for her cooked food, as can her sister in town. To her even an incompetent servant is better than none and there are girls in such situations who are earning as much as forty dollars a month and having all the privileges of a member of the family in addition. While such wages are not usual, the scarcity of domestic help, together with the wretched ambition of women on the farm to get some pleasure out of life instead of remaining continuous house hold drudges, render them more probable each year.

Servant May Become Mistress.

The fact that the servant of today may be the mistress of tomorrow has a most important bearing upon American domestic maladjustments. The girl in the kitchen may marry the greener clerk and he may have special business capacity which will enable him in a few years to become a wholesale merchant with an income sufficient to provide his wife the means of employing the same servants as she desires. These instances are neither impossible nor even infrequent. Every American girl, no matter how uneducated, intelligent or average, has before her the possibility of some day becoming a mistress herself. This is her right, she is subject to the orders of another woman.

The class distinctions of Europe provide a continuous supply of comic peasant girls anxious to enter domestic service, because it is easier than many other occupations. Moreover, in Europe the maid servant's position entitles her to a certain amount of respect. The fact that she lives in a larger house, that she is entrusted with the handling of the china, and the care of the family silver, and other valuable gifts for a constant prestige among other peasant girls who are living in cottages supplied with necessities of the plainest kind, she is not looking forward to commanding servants of her own in the future because of a young girl appealed for protection from the man butler in the same household.

LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT TO LOCAL RELATIVES OF RESIDENTS FLOOD ZONE

George H. Miller of the Miller Printing Co. returned yesterday with his family from a visit of two months in Arizona, California and Utah. He received his first information of the floods in the east upon his return here last night, and fears that his relatives in Zanesville, O., may be among the victims as no word from them was awaiting him.

Mrs. T. R. Newbold, who has been waiting word from relatives in Dayton, O., for several days, has received a telegram from a brother-in-law, saying "everybody is all right." The telegram was sent from a small town in Ohio, but it was not from Dayton.

E. E. Mauger of the Campbell Barber shop received a letter yesterday telling him that his wife and child, who were visiting relatives at Dayton, O., were safe. The letter was dated March 28, and was received at Zanesville, O., 50 miles south of Columbus, the further home of many Colorado Springs people. It was one of the cities where the flood did a great deal of damage, and among local residents who are anxious concerning their relatives and friends there are Charles Craig, Harry Hughes, Mrs. Emma Newman, R. L. Holland, E. C. F. Whitaker and S. N. Nye. Nye has two sisters, several nephews and a number of grandchildren living there.

Dr. H. C. Moore received a telegram last night from his brother, St. Moses, of Dayton, O., stating that he has escaped with his family from the flood, but that reports as to loss of life and property there are not exaggerated.

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy.

If you have been fighting some blood troubles, some eruptive skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scrofula or what you will, there is but one safe way to cure it. Ask for any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. WORK COMPANY DENIED NEW TRIAL OF DIG SUIT

The motion of the Work Mining & Milling Co. for a new trial in the suit brought against it by the Doctor-Jack Pot Mining Co., in which the plaintiff was awarded judgment for $430,000, has been denied by the federal court at Denver. Attorneys for the defendant say they will not give a bond but will ask for an appeal on a writ of error. The defendant was ordered to give $430,000 bond to appeal to the supreme court.

The annual meeting of the Work company will be held here April 7.

SERIOUS CASE REPORTED

The need of a stand firm to illustrate the experience of one family in this city, especially the mother and two little girls, who are innocent sufferers from the indiscretions of the son and brother. The boy, barely 19 years old, by evil associations contracted an incurable disease. Through use of the same toxic and other household articles used by the son, the mother and little girls became infected with the disease. The authorities are investigating the case.

The boy, the eldest son, sprained his ankle in March, 1911. It later developed that instead of a sprain, two bones had been broken. The boy has since gone blind and now seems to be losing his reason; all probably due to his diseased condition.

At times during the past three years question has been raised as to the safety of allowing the children from the family to attend the public schools. A physician who has thoroughly familiarized with the family and its history was asked for an opinion. He said that the children had symptoms of the disease, but did not give any definite information as to whether it was dangerous for them to attend school.

During the last summer the public librarian asked the authorities about the family, saying that it was the custom for the elder girl to come to the library to get books every few days. She wanted to know if it were safe to allow the girl to take books home with her which, later were returned and issued to others.

The question has now been raised as to whether it is safe for the children to attend classes at one of the city's institutions. It is said the children are suspected of small thievery about the institution.

A nurse who has frequently visited the family says that in her opinion it is dangerous for the younger children, if they are not already infected with the disease, to remain with the family. The mother's eyes are affected. The father, it is said, is a hard drinker and the family is often compelled to appeal to charity for assistance.

News of Local Courts

SPONSILIER FILES APPEAL

David M. Sponsilier has appealed to the district court from the decision of the county court appointing the Colorado Title & Trust Co. administrator of the estate of his wife, the late Mrs. Anne Sponsilier. The children of Mrs. Sponsilier by her first husband, Charles Stockbridge of Colorado City, who died about 10 years ago, instituted a contest in the county court against the petition of Sponsilier that he be appointed administrator. They alleged that he is unfit and incompetent to act as administrator.

H. O'Neill was arrested yesterday on a charge of begging within a few hours after he had been released from the city jail, where he had been held on the same charge.

When employees in the meat market at 34 South Telson street refused to respond to his plea for money yesterday, W. B. Kinney picked up a pound of butter from a counter and started for the door. One of the clerks held him until the police arrived. Kinney was arrested on a charge of begging.

A jury in the district court yesterday returned a verdict for $500 in favor of Mrs. Martha Hillis in her personal injury suit for $10,000 against Dr. W. F. Gullion. Mrs. Hillis claimed that she sustained severe injuries when run over by an automobile driven by Dr. Gullion. Dr. Gullion was given 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

John Dennis, who is charged with being implicated in the shooting affray at the Denville mine last Saturday night, was released yesterday from the county jail, upon giving a peace bond for $500 in Justice Gowdy's court.

P. J. Tipton pleaded guilty yesterday in Justice Gowdy's court to stealing coal from the Denver & Rio Grande railroad yards. He was released after paying the costs of the suit.

The Y. M. C. A. circus, which is given each year under the direction of Physical Director J. W. Erps by the gymnasium members of the association, will take place this year on the evenings of May 9 and 10. Non-athletic performance will be given. Athletic exhibitions will provide most of the program of the circus and many new features are being planned. The circus promises to be better than ever before.

FEDERATED TRADES URGE LOCAL FIRM DE FAVORU

The Federated Trades council has sent the following resolutions to the board of education, asking that Colorado Springs firms and labor be given the preference in the construction of the new high school buildings:

March 27, 1913.
The Board of Education, School District No. 11.

Gentlemen:—At a regular meeting of the Federated Trades council, held this date, it was the unanimous opinion of the delegates present that you should be requested to award the contract for the high school buildings to a local firm or firms in preference to any outside firm or firms. The Trades council feels that the money involved in the erection of all our buildings—both public and private—should be expended so far as possible within the city limits of Colorado Springs, to get busier and better city.

We are heartily in accord with the sentiment expressed by the Chamber of Commerce that any reasonable preference extended to a Colorado Springs firm in this particular contract would meet with the approval of the taxpayers generally.

GEORGE W. BAINTER,
S. A. HOON,
Acting Secretary.

Matinee Performance

Musical Comedy Today

A third performance of "The Isle of Kal-to-Ke" the musical comedy which was produced by the local folks Thursday night and last night at the Burns theater, will be held at the Burns this afternoon. The matinee will be at popular prices. It was arranged for by the committee in charge because of the large demand for seats at the other two performances. "The Isle of Kal-to-Ke" is the highest hit in the long list of folk entertainments which have been given here. Jean-con's play is enhanced by its music, the cast, the costumes, the electrical effects and the unique "stunts."

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The canvass of names for the 1913 issue of the Colorado Springs City Directory has been completed in Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou. If by some oversight you have been missed, please call, send in your information to this office, or phone name in. We want the names of all adults in the home, also all roomers and boarders. If you have moved since the names have been taken or contemplate moving in the near future, please send in the new address, also where you moved from.

Preferential Voting

The adoption of the Charter amendment for the preferential system of voting would accomplish two important reforms:

First, it would do away with the second election, with its incidental expense and annoyance.

Second, it would secure the election of each member of the Council to a designated position. That is, the people would vote for the candidate to fill a specific office, and not merely as a member of the Council.

AND THE CAT CAME BACK

The Gazette has won the first leg of the all-Colorado Springs cup for quickest results from classified advertising. Last night, at seven minutes after 10, to be exact, a young lady called up The Gazette to put in an advertisement for a kitten that had been lost. The advertisement was written out and sent to the printer.

Thirty-one minutes later, at 22 minutes to 11, the young lady called up again. The kitten had been found. Thirty-one minutes after the advertisement was phoned in, there's a record!

But the advertisement was locked in the forms and appears in the paper this morning. Do not look for the kitten.

STOP THE LEAK!

The second election in Colorado Springs costs the people about $1,500 each time, unnecessarily prolongs the campaign for two weeks, and subjects the voters to a great deal of avoidable trouble.

Do away with this nuisance by voting for the Charter amendment for the preferential system. It has the double merit of simplicity and efficiency.

KILL THE LIQUOR AMENDMENT

IF THE proposed amendment to the liquor ordinance is passed it will mean all-night drinking in upstairs rooms, basement dining rooms and other dining rooms so effectively shut off from view as to be, in all but a local sense, private dining rooms.

It will mean in granting a privilege to the restaurant-keepers for which the City will receive no license fee and over which it will have no power of control.

It will mean the opening of a number of winerooms, disguised as restaurants, running all night and operating without licenses.

The City can now control sellers of liquor because all of them are licensed. The Council has authority to revoke these licenses if will without even granting a hearing and to impose severe penalties provided by the ordinance. But under the restaurant amendment the Council will have no such power. No license is required therefore there is nothing for the City to take away from them if they violate the law. They will not be subject to the severe restrictions which are now imposed on the clubs, hotels and drug stores.

Imagine the spectacle of a restaurant with a secluded dining room for serving liquors, operated in connection with a dance hall. We know the conditions revealed in the dance hall investigation three months ago. Think how much worse they would be if each dance hall had a wine-room-restaurant close at hand.

THINK IT OVER!

WILL MR. AVERY ANSWER?

MAYOR AVERY is billed to speak at the Opera House tonight. Will he answer the following questions?

1. Do not the state laws, the charter and the city ordinance all require that a sinking fund be collected annually for the payment of bonds against the city and that the money to pay these bonds must be collected at the time and in the manner designated in the bond?

2. Did not the law compel you to collect every dollar of the $350,000 which you claim has been raised during your administration for the payment of city bonds? If you had failed to provide for the collection of this money would not the courts have compelled you by mandamus to collect it? Does not the law expressly provide that the money raised for the payment of bonds must be used for that purpose and no other?

Then will you not admit that as a matter of fact every dollar which has been paid on bonds during your term of office was collected, and so paid because the law compelled you to collect it and to either put it in a sinking fund to be used exclusively for the redemption of bonds or to redeem outstanding bonds and that you did the latter because the City Attorney advised you to do so? Could you or any other person at any time have paid these bonds from any other source than the sinking fund, without violating the law?

If you did only what the law compelled you to do, why do you in circulate and in public speeches try to deceive the people by claiming that YOU reduced the bonded indebtedness of the city $350,000?

It is a fact that you increased the bonded debt of the city $197,000 during your administration in the six years of your term.

You claim that on March 1, 1912, the receipts of the Water Department for the first year of your administration $30,000, and about the receipts for the last year. It is not a fact shown by the Auditors and Treasurers books that the Water Department closed the last year with an actual shortage of $10,000 and that the department is now over $15,000 in debt. Its receipts, and that in order to cover up this shortage you are considering the possibility of a 10 per cent increase in rates.

the sum of $50,000, on the pretext that the City must buy some land and build some fences to protect the water from pollution?

Is it not a fact that you have appropriated each year the full amount of the estimated receipts of the City, and have made no allowance for shortage in collections, as is done in other cities, and that as a result of this unwise policy the City has expended more money than it has received, and that the bonds have been carrying from $35,000 to $10,000 in warrants against the City, because there was no money in the treasury to pay them?

What right would you have in the management of the City Charter and formulate a plan at the beginning of your administration for refunding the water bonds? If you answer that you could not do so on account of the condition of the bond market will you not have to admit that the bond market is much worse today than it was four years ago, and will the taxpayers not have to suffer a much greater loss by refunding these bonds now than they would if you had done your duty?

Is it not a fact that if a part of the water bonds are not refunded in the near future, taxes will be enormously increased? Have you ever formulated and presented to the Council, as the Charter requires, any plan for refunding these bonds?

You claim that you are responsible for the efficiency of the Fire Department. Have you any more control of the Fire Department than you have of the Police Department? If you are responsible for the efficiency of the Fire Department are you not also responsible for the inefficiency of the Police Department?

The Fire Department is asking for a bond issue of $20,000 to buy needed apparatus and make necessary repairs in the fire alarm system. Would this bond issue have been called for if you had done your duty in refunding the water bonds?

Was not your brother-in-law interested in one of the high bids for street paving, and did you not vote against letting the contract to the lowest bidder?

Do not sections 77 and 78 of the Charter require that you shall each year inspect the buildings, plants, power houses and all properties of public utility corporations and report to the Council a detailed statement of such inspection? You know during your four years administration you have never made a single inspection or filed a single report with the Council as required by these sections of the Charter. Why have you not done so?

Did you not cause to be circulated last year the report that the cause of the muddy city water which troubled our citizens and drove away our tourists was a storm in the mountains, when you knew the real cause of this muddy water was the incompetency and drunkenness of one of your caretakers in the mountains?

An editorial in the Evening Telegraph on the subject of the sinking fund has shown that you are not up to the facts as follows:

"The sinking fund is not a fund, it is a committee, which considers the liabilities."

There is a sinking fund of every city and there is a sinking fund of every state. It is a fund of money set aside for the payment of bonds.

until it is referred to the supreme court a charter amendment cannot be submitted at the general election but must be submitted at the general municipal election.

Personally it is my opinion that the decision of the district court in Pueblo is too narrow, and that under the phrase "general election" charter amendments may be submitted at either the general election or the general municipal election. This conclusion is strengthened by the fact that the same section and article of the state constitution also allows a special election for amendments to the charter or for charter conventions whenever the petition is signed by not less than 10 per cent of the voters. It seems that such special election to hold that a charter amendment can be submitted at any time during the year except only at the general municipal election.

I am authorized to state that the city attorney concurs in the view that charter amendments may be submitted at either the general election or the general municipal election. DUNBAR L. ARPENTER
Colorado Springs, March 28.

QUALIFICATIONS OF CANDIDATES

To the Editor of the Gazette:

As I am partially unacquainted with the law my knowledge of the various candidates and their qualifications is very limited. I am, however, sure that the qualifications of the candidates are very important.

I find one candidate for councilman whose qualifications are such that he should be elected. He is a direct representative of the community. Another the impartial and just performance of duty.

Another candidate for councilman is a doctor. A doctor of what? Running a police and fire department or a city's finances. Those are the positions he is seeking. What kind of a doctor is he? The doctor of the town of 35 or 47 years and has a reputation for 25 or 30 years. Out of the lot that I have seen, two only have shown any special qualifications. One of these has a long record in the fire department, the other in the police department. Neither of these men have better recommendations for the positions they seek than the others. I find that they are as many friends. Let it stand a reputation for 25 or 30 years.

A corporation having an organized list and police body for the protection of its extensive holdings, finds itself in need of a body of men to fill the positions. Three men apply. One has had several years experience in police and fire work. Another has lived in the town 30 years. Which one gets the position as head of the fire and police organization. The third applicant has paid taxes for 17 years. Does he get the position as treasurer because of that fact? It sounds silly to even consider such a position when applied to a corporation doesn't it. Yet that is what is being applied to city affairs.

Long residence, long taxpaying records, and the various similar arguments set forth no more fit a man to direct the affairs of a city than would the fact that he could wrangle his case like a bull. The pitiful man who is out for councilman, could no doubt no more to take the kinks out of the police department than could the man who believes that labor should be represented in the city council. The man who has done nothing but pay taxes for a few hundred years. The chief of the fire department knows more about the workings of the fire department than the man who has been a successful lawyer. All this is said from the standpoint of what I have learned from advertisements of the candidates who in themselves are mere names to me.

Would the street railway company employ as general manager a man whose only recommendation was that he had been a successful shoemaker? Would the Portland Cement Co. employ a man who had paid taxes for 15 years but who had had no experience in running a plant of that sort? Most emphatically not. And yet the voters of Colorado Springs have to select their general managers from among a long list of men of whom I have only heard by previous experience in the department to which they have to be elected. Is it any wonder under such conditions that the taxpayer sends up a howl and a will at the excessive taxation and the inefficient administration of the city's affairs. The business concerns mentioned would if they had their qualifications in the same manner with no regard to their qualifications in the bankruptcy court in court order.

COLORADO SPRINGS, MARCH 28.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

To the Editor of the Gazette:
In section 1 of the proposed test ordinance exemption is provided for those who observe the seventh day of the week as Sabbath. It is stated that such persons shall not be liable for section 2 of the ordinance if they actually refrain from labor as herein specified, on the seventh day, and close their places of business on that day. According to this ordinance the exemption is given to those who observe the seventh day Sabbath in the manner in which this ordinance specifies the observance of Sunday.

It is just as objectionable for the civil law to dictate the manner of observing the Sabbath on the seventh day as on the Sunday. In either case the civil law is clearly intruding into the sacred realm of conscience, and is utterly out of harmony with the principle of religious freedom upon which our government is established. This exemption clause is simply a device to give additional evidence that the ordinance is a religious measure which it is itself ought to cause its defeat.

And now, about the citizens who have no religious scruples either in regard to Saturday or Sunday. Most the law to compulsory religious observance is an ordinance for which they have no religious scruples. It is a religious measure which it is itself ought to cause its defeat.

The only safeguard against oppression of citizens is the man who is only selected against for his religious scruples.

COLORADO SPRINGS, MARCH 28.

MRS. BOYD FOR COUNCILMAN

To the Editor of the Gazette:
The Rev. Charles S. Shelton, in his lecture at the People's temple, a high speaking of police system, reported in the Gazette, that at least half the police force in cities should be women. It is safe to say that if the right type of men and women are appointed to the position of city officers this amount of crime and graft will be diminished by one half to the immense saving financially and in every other way of the municipality.

After Mrs. Boyd's lecture on the subject of crime and graft and what would be the result of commission. She has said that it elected and assigned to the office of commissioner of safety he would perform his duties of this department in a most efficient manner.

LIARS

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Swish"

A liar is a man who is not on speaking terms with the truth.

There are various kinds of liars. Some are accidental, some occasional, some are born liars, and some are liars by profession. Some liars are harmless as doves and some make little snakes seem pleasant by comparison.

In the south a liar is more fatal than a snake. It is necessary for him to shoot everyone who calls him a liar. This does not improve his morals, but it does improve his ammunition business.

King David once said in his haste that all men were liars. There is no doubt about it.

"Annianus was the first liar of any great note"

I find that he ever took this path on second thought.

Some men lie for amusement, like fishermen. Some for business, like stock promoters. Some for meanness, like gossip, and some for charity, like men who pay compliments to middle-aged ladies. If it were not for liars, society would be full of hard feelings and very few young ladies would pursue their studies in social or institutional music.

It was liars who first made the settlement of America possible. If the explorers who landed along the Atlantic coast had gone home and told the truth about the climate of America, wouldn't he have had 10,000 people by 1500?

Annianus was the first liar of any great note. He lied a lie and got burned up for it. Since then liars have grown a great deal in skill and now they are seldom even tested. It is very easy to become a liar. It is easier than to slip on an icy sidewalk or to look at a pretty girl or to be a successful business man. Time and again that is necessary to tell one lie. If the experimenter will choose the proper lie to begin with he will have to produce a dozen a day to back it up forever afterward.

The consequence of lying are many. Some men get liked and some get hated. Others make a million dollars, and some become senators. If the consequences were a little more consistent maybe people would be a little more careful about saying both the bad and the good.

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE MODERN WOMAN

IV WOMEN AS SERVANTS

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

More women are working in domestic service than in other gainful occupations despite the great and growing unpopularity of such employment. According to the last census report more than a fifth of the $600,000 women employed in gainful occupations outside of their own homes are engaged in domestic service. The greater number of white women servants are foreign born. During the present generation this class of work has become so unpopular that American women prefer almost any other field of activity often at a much smaller remuneration and less comfort than would be assured them by taking service as average American homes. The various causes which have brought about this condition of affairs have become the subject of study and consideration by the women of the entire country, both privately and through their numerous organizations.

The difficulties in the adjustment of the domestic help problem have become so important that they have received the attention of the old department of commerce and labor, which for some time contemplated an investigation of the whole matter. It was deferred because of the apparent difficulties in the way of securing accurate information, although several plans now are under consideration which may remove this objection. The work probably will be undertaken by the new department of labor. The question of the earnings of domestics has been considered of especial value in the compilation of full economic reports of national industries. These say so much in different communities that while the labor statistics make the general statement that domestic service is still more remunerative than any other industrial occupation for women in proportion to the enhanced expenditures they are not able to furnish detailed reports.

Conditions Need to be Changed.

The investigations made by private agencies have brought to light many facts showing conditions which need to be changed both for the good of the servant girl and her mistress. One investigator reports that women servants in the United States are treated with less kindness and consideration than in any other country and she suggests that it is only a natural consequence that in no other country are servants as cheap as inefficient and unreliable. Most of the investigators tend to put the blame for these conditions largely upon the mistress despite the thousands of individual cases in which the maid is treated with all the consideration given to another member of the family.

Loneliness is the greatest hardship suffered by the girl in the average home in which only one servant is kept. She has no social intercourse with any member of the family. She eats her meals alone and spends her leisure time alone in a kitchen which generally has little to make it attractive for a girl.

Frequently even on her days of leisure she has no friends to visit and no place to go but the street or to some cheap theatre. She is deprived from admission to many of the social clubs which furnish diversion for the leisure of our working girls. What wonder is it that too often she falls a victim to the temptation of the policeman, the grocerman or some other man who gives her an occasional friendly greeting and thus joins the large army of unmarried mothers who annually apply to charitable institutions for aid.

It is a reflection upon the mistresses more than upon the maids themselves that by far the larger number of these unfortunate are girls who met their fall while in domestic service. The claim frequently is made that the maid servant is protected by her mistress, but this is not always the truth. An instance recently was cited at a woman's club meeting of a mistress in whom a young girl appeared for pay.

Many Driven to Streets. The rule that a girl may receive no calls at her place of employment has driven many virtuous girls to the street, although considering the number of servants who frequently are found to be in league with thieves and burglars mistresses sometimes claim that such a rule is necessary for their own protection. The proper adjustment of the need of recreation and companionship for a girl in domestic employment especially in houses where only one servant is kept is in the eyes of many students of the subject the most important matter connected with the servant problem.

This problem is most discussed in the larger cities and yet it must be admitted that the women in the city do not suffer so much personal discomfort as a fatigue from her inability to secure help in the work of the home as women in the country upon large farms out of reach of the conveniences for lightening their work. It is quite usual for the wife of a prosperous farmer to have to perform with her own hands all the labor of a working woman, baking, washing and ironing not only for her own family, but to several extra men as well in addition to keeping the home clean and in order. She can not send her soiled clothes to the laundry, procure bread and cake from the bakery, and rely largely upon the delirious store for her week's food as can her sister in town. To be even an incompetent servant is better than none and there are girls in such situations who are earning a month's pay for a month's work.

One investigator reports that women servants in the United States are treated with less kindness and consideration than in any other country and she suggests that it is only a natural consequence that in no other country are servants as cheap as inefficient and unreliable. Most of the investigators tend to put the blame for these conditions largely upon the mistress despite the thousands of individual cases in which the maid is treated with all the consideration given to another member of the family.

Loneliness is the greatest hardship suffered by the girl in the average home in which only one servant is kept. She has no social intercourse with any member of the family. She eats her meals alone and spends her leisure time alone in a kitchen which generally has little to make it attractive for a girl.

Frequently even on her days of leisure she has no friends to visit and no place to go but the street or to some cheap theatre. She is deprived from admission to many of the social clubs which furnish diversion for the leisure of our working girls. What wonder is it that too often she falls a victim to the temptation of the policeman, the grocerman or some other man who gives her an occasional friendly greeting and thus joins the large army of unmarried mothers who annually apply to charitable institutions for aid.

It is a reflection upon the mistresses more than upon the maids themselves that by far the larger number of these unfortunate are girls who met their fall while in domestic service. The claim frequently is made that the maid servant is protected by her mistress, but this is not always the truth. An instance recently was cited at a woman's club meeting of a mistress in whom a young girl appeared for pay.

LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT TO LOCAL RELATIVES OF RESIDENTS FLOOD ZONE

George H. Miller of the Miller Printing Co. returned yesterday with his family from a visit of two months in Arizona, California and Utah. He received his first information of the floods in the east upon his return here last night, and fears that his relatives in Zanesville, O., may be among the victims, as no word from them was awaiting him.

Mrs. T. R. Newbold, who has been waiting word from relatives in Dayton, O., for several days, has received a telegram from a brother-in-law, saying "everybody is all right." The telegram was sent from a small town in Kentucky, just south of the Ohio river.

Mr. F. H. Hays of the Campbell barber shop received a letter yesterday telling him that his wife and child, who are visiting relatives at Troy, O., 20 miles north of Dayton, are safe. There was no loss of life there, although the town was flooded.

Zanesville, O., 50 miles south of Columbus, was the former home of many Colorado Springs people. It was one of the cities where the flood did a great deal of damage and among local residents who are anxious concerning their relatives and friends there are Charles Craig, Harry Hughes, Mrs. Emma Newman, R. L. Holland, E. C. F. Whitaker, and S. N. Nye. Nye has two sisters, several nephews and a number of grandchildren living there. Dr. H. C. Moses received a telegram last night from his brother, S. Moses, of Dayton, O., stating that he has escaped with his family from the flood, but that reports as to loss of life and property there are not exaggerated.

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy.

If you have been fighting some blood troubles, some eruptive skin disease, call eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scurvy or what you will, there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural forces. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood from the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to excrete a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshaled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy to-day, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar write to The Swift Specific Co., Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Their medical laboratory is famous and is conducted by renowned experts in blood and skin diseases.

The United States petroleum output in 1912 reached 220,000,000 barrels.

WORK COMPANY DENIED NEW TRIAL OF BIG SUIT

The motion of the Work Mining & Milling Co. for a new trial in the suit brought against it by the Doctor-Jack For Mining Co. in which the plaintiff was awarded judgment for $400,000 has been denied by the federal court at Denver. Attorneys for the defendant say they will not give a bond but will ask for an appeal on a writ of error. The defendant was ordered to give $42,000 bond to appeal to the supreme court.

The annual meeting of the Work company will be held here April 1.

SERIOUS CASE REPORTED

The death of a grand child to investigate the conditions is illustrated in the experience of one family in this city, especially the mother and two little girls, who are innocent sufferers from the indiscretions of the son and brother. The boy, barely 19 years old, by evil associations contracted an incurable disease. Through use of the same towel and other household articles used by the son, the mother and little girls became infected with the disease. The authorities are investigating the case.

The boy, the eldest son, sprained his ankle in March, 1911. It later developed that instead of a sprain two bones had been broken. The boy has since gone blind and now seems to be losing his reason, all probably due to his diseased condition.

At times during the past three years question has been raised as to the safety of allowing the children from the family to attend the public schools.

A physician who was thoroughly familiar with the family and its history was asked for an opinion. He said that the children had symptoms of the disease, but did not give any definite information as to whether it was dangerous for them to attend school.

During the last summer the public librarian asked the authorities about the family, saying that it was the custom for the elder girl to come to the library to get books every few days. She wanted to know if it were safe to allow the girl to take books home with her which, later were returned and issued to others.

The question has now been raised as to whether it is safe for the children to attend classes at one of the city's institutions. It is said the children are suspected of small thievery about the institution.

A nurse who has frequently visited the family says that in her opinion it is dangerous for the younger children, if they are not already infected with the disease, to remain with the family. The mother's eyes are affected. The father, it is said, is a hard drinker and the family is often compelled to appeal to charity for assistance.

News of Local Courts

SPONSILIER FILES APPEAL

David M. Sponsilier has appealed to the district court from the decision of the county court appointing the Colorado Title & Trust Co. administrator of the estate of his wife, the late Mrs. Anne Sponsilier. The children of Mrs. Sponsilier by her first husband, Charles Stockbridge of Colorado City, who died about 19 years ago, instituted a contest in the county court against the petition of Sponsilier that he be appointed administrator. They alleged that he is unfit and incompetent to act as administrator.

H. O'Neill was arrested yesterday on a charge of begging, within a few hours after he had been released from the city jail, where he had been held on the same charge.

When employees in the meat market at 24 South Tejon street refused to respond to his plea for money yesterday, W. D. Kinney picked up a pound of butter from a counter and started for the door. One of the clerks held him until the police arrived. Kinney was arrested on a charge of begging.

A jury in the district court yesterday returned a verdict for $900 in favor of Mrs. Martha Hillis in her personal injury suit for $100,000 against Dr. W. T. Gullison. Mrs. Hillis claimed that she sustained severe injuries when run over by an automobile driven by Dr. Gullison. Dr. Gullison was given 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

John Dennis, who is charged with being implicated in the shooting affray at the Danville mine last Saturday night, was released yesterday from the county jail upon giving a $500 bond for $500 in Justice Gowdy's court.

P. J. Tipton pleaded guilty yesterday in Justice Gowdy's court to stealing coal from the Denver & Rio Grande railroad yards. He was released after paying the costs of the suit.

Athletic exhibitions will provide most of the program of the circus and many new features are being planned. The circus promises to be better than ever before.

FEDERATED TRADES URGE LOCAL FIRM DE-FAVORED

The Federated Trades council has sent the following resolutions to the board of education, asking that Colorado Springs firms and labor be given the preference in the construction of the new high school buildings:

March 27, 1913.
The Board of Education,
School District No. 1,
Colorado Springs, Colo.
Gentlemen: At a regular meeting of the Federated Trades council, held this date, it was the unanimous opinion of the delegates present that you honorable body be requested to award the contract for the high school buildings to a local firm or firms in preference to any outside firm or firms.

The Trades council feels that the money involved in the erection of all our buildings—both public and private—should be expended so far as possible within the city limits, and for the benefit of the city, to the end that it would make Colorado Springs a bigger, busier and better city.

We are heartily in accord with the sentiment expressed by the Chamber of Commerce, that "any reasonable preference extended to a Colorado Springs firm in this particular contract would meet with the approval of the taxpayers generally."

Very respectfully,
GEORGE W. RAINTER,
S. A. HOON,
Acting Secretary.

Matinee Performance Musical Comedy Today

A third performance of "The Isle of Kal-to-kee," the musical comedy which was produced by the local Elks Thursday night and last night at the Burns theater, will be held at the Burns this afternoon. The matinee will be at popular prices. It was arranged for by the committee in charge of the large demand for seats at the other two performances. "The Isle of Kal-to-kee" is the largest hit in the long list of Elk entertainments which have been given here. Jay-con's play is enhanced by its music, the cast, the costume, the electrical effects, and the unique stunts.

Preferential Voting

The adoption of the Charter amendment for the preferential system of voting would accomplish two important reforms:

First, it would do away with the second election, with its incidental expense and annoyance.
Second, it would secure the election of each member of the Council to a designated position. That is, the people would vote for the candidates to fill a specific office, and not merely as a member of the Council.

TAX REFORM BILLS TO COME UP TODAY

Estimated Saving to the State
Will Be $138,000
Annually

Special to The Gazette.
DENVER, March 28.—The house voted today to take up on special order calendar tomorrow the program of tax reform bills proposed by the Colorado commission. The house was divided on this action by a letter from the governor and a communication from the tax commission, transmitted to the house yesterday. J. Frank Adams, chairman of the tax commission, estimated that the bills will save the state $138,000 annually. There are seven bills in the program as follows:

No. 344.—By Skinner, Parker and Butler, limiting the tax levies for 1913 to the levy imposed in 1912, plus 20 percent, and providing that thereafter there shall never be more than a 4 percent increase in any one year over the previous year. It is believed that by thus limiting the levy it will be easier to bring about the assessment of all property at full value. In order to raise the proper amount for county purposes, the commission believes the assessors would be compelled to raise the value of property.

No. 345.—By McDonald, Skinner and Lewis, providing that the true consideration shall be specified in all deeds and conveyances of real estate. This, it is believed, will aid assessors in determining real values.

No. 346.—By Skinner, providing that the salary of assessors shall be fixed by the legislature. No. 347.—By Gallup and Skinner, providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment empowering the state board of equalization to raise or lower the aggregate valuation of the state as may be necessary for the purposes of equalization.

No. 348.—By Gallup and Skinner, providing that rebates must be approved by the state tax commission; that equities in state and school lands shall be assessed at their actual values, and that taxpayers assessed by the state board of equalization, as well as taxpayers assessed by the state board of equalization, shall be permitted to bring suit to contest them. The latter provision is aimed especially at the railroads, which hardly ever pay without a suit, and then usually at a favorable compromise. The state is estimated to have lost last year $300,000 in revenue through rebated taxes.

No. 349.—By Gallup and Skinner, providing that all public utility corporations shall be assessed by the state tax commission. Many utilities now pay a special valuation through contract of some public utility assessors. No. 350.—By Gallup and Skinner, providing that all mines and mining claims shall be assessed at their full market value, but all other property, instead of at 25 percent of the output, the commission holds out that, according to assessment, mines contribute only 5 percent of the property of the state, and insists that there is no reason why it should not be taxed in the same proportion as all other property. This bill, it is estimated, would add $100,000 to the state's revenues.

American Woman Refused Permission to See Her Daughter in London Jail

LONDON, March 28.—Mrs. Emerson of Detroit, Mich., who came to London because of the imprisonment of her daughter, Miss Zelle Emerson, a suffragette, was refused permission today by the prison authorities to see her daughter.

Miss Emerson was sentenced with Miss Sylvia Pankhurst to serve a two months' term for window smashing. Both went on a hunger strike. Miss Pankhurst was released a few days ago on medical grounds.

In a statement which she issued, Miss Emerson after describing her own suffering, declared that Miss Emerson was practically a physical wreck.

Mrs. Emerson says she has received trustworthy information that her daughter has been severely treated and that she has been driven mad and that her body is covered with bruises.

Miss Scott-Troy of San Francisco announced tonight she would head a delegation of American women to accompany Mrs. Emerson to the American embassy tomorrow to demand the embassy's intervention in behalf of the young woman.

Many Employees to Blame

While hardships such as these are found by many servants there are thousands of considerate mistresses who daily are being imposed upon by incompetents who demand exorbitant wages for little work, who leave upon the slightest excuse and who are wasteful and extravagant when they are not positively dishonest. The increase in the wages asked by domestic workers now is to many housekeepers an important factor in the increased cost of living. The women in professional classes whose husbands incomes are little if any higher than that of a past generation, and who by their position are compelled to maintain the same standards of living, very often find it a difficult matter to make their household allowances pay from $10 to $20 more a month for less service than half that sum used to buy. And yet the maids who show any consideration for their mistresses in this connection are few indeed.

In cities where the apartment has largely superseded the house, the sleeping quarters of the maid present a problem. Few mistresses actually

THIS FOOD WON A WAR

When the little brown fighters of Japan chased the big Russian Bear back to his den, they did it on a three-times-a-day ration of rice. Rice furnished the strength and endurance—and the courage, too—that won the war.

Moreys Solitaire Rice

Is whole grain rice—the very finest. Eat it as vegetable. Americans are just beginning to appreciate the food value and economy of rice. Solitaire Tea Solitaire Sea Food Canned Salmon, Oysters, Lobsters, Shrimp, etc. "The best the grocer can deliver."
